

BLACK STUDENT ATTACKED

Los Northington is a black student at UT. Last Saturday night he was attacked by Don Weeden, an Austin businessman. LEO is the only black member of a band playing at the Lemon Tree Bar. LEO was hit by Weeden. For a time Weeden taunted LEO, shouting with a tauntman, "What are you doing?" eventually calling him "nigger", and adding with other band members some "dirty niggers". Don Weeden accused LEO, said LEO, "we long at to be attacked or murdered and we didn't expect a reward for it." Then he attacked me physically, I responded." LEO tried to defend himself, but the fight was stopped immediately. LEO was sent to the police in the charge against Weeden, but may not be charged until Monday morning. Later Weeden came back to the bar -- so claim that LEO has attacked him. But witnesses said they would testify this was a lie.

Don Weeden is a member of the Austin Chamber of Commerce. He owns the Conoco station at Park and Comstock, the JJ market in the Lemon Tree Bar, plus other interests in Austin. Early last November he refused to serve several customers who had beaten, and when a "party" was called several hundred dollars came to the station. He said as of his friends waiting in "buses" the place. They had up a 1961 photographer as well as several assistants. Frome claimed that "the police did not go to permission to our force to remove LEO." A 1961 TV photographer was roughed up, got the movie and nothing. When LEO, Don Weeden of the movie cameras and his party represented the business. Frome promised pressure and legal identification from police. Charges of assault were filed, but were dismissed. Weeden has enjoyed the protection of the law and press.

While racism attacks the black man in many ways. The Daily Texas refused to print anything about the incident though it received a TV article. California Oil Co. (Chevron 4000) was asked by Larry Jackson, Austin INCC, to stop selling gas to Don Weeden. They refused to comply, saying that Weeden did with his station was his own business. A large newspaper told a picture, not a picture. The press, which running press articles about black "crime in the streets", exaggerated last Saturday night's incident.

As TT students we should defend black fellow students such as Los Northington against white racist businessmen. We should take no following actions against Don Weeden and Conoco today.

1) DEMONSTRATE AND PICKET Weeden's Conoco station (Park and Comstock) TODAY

2) CALL BACK Conoco Credit Cards: Conoco

3) WRITE LETTERS To Conoco protesting their complicity in the racist actions of Don Weeden: J. J. Shiner, V.P. and Manager, Kansas City, Missouri 64111

Public Affairs and Relations, New York 100 New York 100

4) BOYCOTT Don Weeden's station.
